FROM THE Bethel town office

Community Interest Notes

With twenty-six questionnaires returned, response from potential Cable TV subscribers indicating their programming desires is lagging. Before consummating a franchise agreement, channel and programming is a major item that must be negotiated between the town and the potential cable TV vendor. Should the potential vendor regard this sparse response as an indication of the number of Bethel cable TV subscribers, the franchise request might be withdrawn. Potential subscribers are requested to return to the Town Office completed TV program questionnaires that can be found in recent editions of this column or at the Town Office lobby.

Maintaining a safe and effective solid waste disposal operation at the Bethel landfill requires the vigilance and cooperation of all users. The landfill is open with an attendant on duty 20 hours a week: 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Saturdays and Sundays and noon to 4 p. m. Mondays and Thursdays. Department of Environmental Protection rules require that at the end of each day's operation, a dirt cover be bulldozed over all solid waste deposited in the landfill.

COMPLETES METAL TRADES PROJECT — Telstar Regional High School senior Bill McDougall (above), son of William H. McDougall of Andover, has completed with excellence, a recent metals project, according to Dan Hart, Telstar Guidance Counselor, and Larry Merrill, NOVA Vocational Counselor.

Bill has completed an arbor press in his Metal Trades Class, "He exhibited the finest of workmanship," stated Dave Thompson, Metal Trades Instructor for NOVA (Northern Oxford Vocational Area).

An arbor press is used extensively in the machine shop, auto shop and gunsmith shop to remove and install bushings and pins. The stock metal cost Bill $2.50. A completed arbor press sells for retail at about $123.

Bill said that his future plans were to attend one of the State's Vocational Technical Schools to continue his training in Machine Tool or seek an apprenticeship through SMVTI.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

This week can be called "Golden days." Each week has its own beauty and inspiration, but this one has been nearly perfect.

No doubt you'll be surprised when I tell you that on two days I hunted for a wall—a stone wall! It started when I had a picture developed which I couldn't place. It had to be a section somewhere on the farm.

One morning I took a hurried search up the Bulldozer Road to the gate then right through the bushes. There was a pungent smell about the earth and air was full of zest.

I shuffled my feet in wind piled heaps of red, gold and brown. It was truly a time of heart's desire, but I could not stay. The special bit of wall was not there.

The next afternoon I took my snapshot and started again, following wall after wall. There was something fascinating along each path and field; chipmunks, squirrels, and a couple of partridges. These added interest to my search. I heard the whirring of wings and one partridge flew to a roosting pine. It rose through this, branch by branch until it was at the level I preferred. Resting for a few minutes it then lowered itself to a fir behind the clearing which I was about to cross. I remained still and watched. Feeling its way, with never an awkward step, it climbed, its pace becoming slower. At last it reached the highest branch it could grasp securely. Down on the bough it was well hidden in a cluster of needles. The only voice that reached there was the wind's. I wondered if night would find the partridge still there.

I now, went to this wall by the old cellar hole and near the butternut tree. This was my wall, a crooked stick across the rocks on top, and the background the same except the colored leaves of a couple of little trees had vanished. My mystery was solved!

Later at home, at our evening meal, we watched the coming of sunset. Then into the coloring and reflections came a ripple, the movement of a canoe. It was like a reed in the wind; silence, then the sound of lapping water. A my in silhouette was seated there. The instant he dipped his paddle he flowed as it flowed. It was responsive to his every whim and thought. If lucky enough to be moving across a calm surface, as this was, with mirrored clouds, he may have had the sensation of suspension between sky and earth. Maybe he felt he was paddling through skies themselves instead of water. All looked pink except the man and canoe. I wish I could have painted the picture for others to see.

This sunset and the smoky gold of late October will always be a benediction before the coming of the snow.

NORWAY HOSPITAL IS ACCREDITED FOR 20th YEAR

"We have been accredited for the 20th consecutive year, by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) and we are proud of our accomplishment," stated Harrison F. Hahn, Executive Director, Stephens Memorial Hospital, in announcing a full three year accreditation granted this week to the Norway facility. "Two facts are noted as significant regarding this award: 1) No contingencies were attached. 2) There were 44 less recommendations for improvements than in the previous survey," Hahn continues. Occasionally a hospital is granted a full accreditation (three years) with contingencies, or questionable areas that must be reviewed at a later date. If the questionable areas are not upgraded by the time of the subsequent review, the accreditation can be withdrawn. Stephens, with no contingencies, will not be reviewed again until 1985. Various departments of the hospital are surveyed for accreditation periodically; i. e., the bloodbank, but only the JCAH surveys virtually every area of its operations. They measure the hospital's standards against the JCAH board standards to determine if the hospital is in compliance—if it is, accreditation is granted, if not, accreditation is withheld or granted with restrictions, or for less than the three year maximum.

In conclusion Hahn explained, "The fact that we have earned this accreditation is an indication of our commitment to improving the quality of care our patients receive. This is a complete team effort, from the President of the Board of Trustees, to the dedicated staff employee."

Thompson, Laurie Collingwood, Emmie and Loretta Merrill and Florence Merrill. The Enforcers have yet to chalk up a victory, but the potential is definitely there.

On Nov. 10 and Nov. 17, the league will play at 8 o'clock, because of Telstar basketball practice.

ATHLETIC BOOSTERS MEET AT TELSTAR LIBRARY — TO MEET AGAIN NOV. 10

Several parents interested in keeping the Athletic Boosters alive met at the Telstar Library on Oct. 27, to discuss concerns with Athletic Director Peter Brown. Mr. Brown presented several ideas which other school booster groups were doing to help build attendance as well as raise funds. The obvious poor attendance by local and district people at both boys and girls athletic contests was the chief concern expressed by the group.

After much discussion on just what the main goals of the Boosters should be, the group decided to make plans for a big '82 Membership Drive to help generate enthusiasm and support. The group hopes to poll all coaches to see what equipment is needed the most and from that list choose a large project to focus on for the year. There were some concerns expressed about the after-school practice time scheduled for the boys' basketball team. Mr. Brown explained that with eight basketball teams and two cheering teams all sharing the gym, it was difficult to schedule ideal practice times for everyone.

Another meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 7 p. m.

AGED AND CHRONICALLY ILL WARNED TO PREVENT WINTER FLU

Because the winter season is rapidly approaching, now is the time to think about taking precautions against colds, flu and other winter health hazards. Each year, millions of Americans suffer from the effects of flu, ranging from mildly unpleasant to the young to life-threatening for the chronically ill or old.

Flu epidemics usually occur during the winter time and last from four to six weeks. Although the flu is rarely fatal, it keeps the immune system working overtime, thus making the victim, especially the aged and people suffering from chronic conditions like heart disease, emphysema, kidney disease and diabetes, less resistant to a second infection. If this second infection occurs in the lungs, it could be life threatening. The most serious problem resulting from flu infection is pneumonia, one of the five leading causes of death among people over 65.

Symptoms of the flu can vary but generally begin one to four days after exposure to the virus. Severity of the symptoms depends on the virus and the individual. Early symptoms usually last about three days and may include: fever and chills; headaches; aching muscles/joints; general sick feeling.

By the fourth day, these early symptoms are usually replaced by later symptoms, such as dry cough, congested nose and sore throat. These later symptoms usually subside within a week, but can last much longer. It may take a month before the victim returns to normal health.

Treatment

Many doctors recommend flu shots, which are usually obtained in the fall, prior to the flu season. Although there is no cure for flu, some simple steps can be taken to relieve symptoms and enhance comfort: rest in bed; drink fluids; try a cough suppressant; keep warm; eat wisely; take as-

MOCK ELECTION HELD

Mr. Peter Brown's Social Studies classes at Telstar held a Mock Election on Monday with the following results:

Brennan 56, Cragin 41; Emery 45, Mitchell 52; Brown 69, Saunders 28; Noble 38, Twitchell 59; McKernan 31, Kerry 66; Snowe 84, Dumbleavy 13.

Close Maine Yankee, 50 Yes, 47 No; Abolish Maine Milk Commission, 56 Yes, 41 No; Appropriate money for Woodstock School, 56 Yes, 41 No.

in the Telstar Library. At that time, parents would be able to talk with the coaches of the winter sports. It is hoped that a much larger group of parents will be present at future meetings.

Research is constantly being done to find ways of preventing and curing the flu. In the meantime, the Public Health Service's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices encourages those over 65 (and those with chronic illnesses) to get an annual vaccination.

For your free brochure dealing with the flu and its problems, treatment, prevention, write to U. S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Public Affairs, Room #241, JFK Federal Building, Government Center, Mass. 02203.

New Englanders Reminded to Immunize Their Children

The U. S. Public Health Service has sent letters to all of New England's governors, reminding them that fall is the time to intensify immunization efforts, particularly for children entering school. New England has been making remarkable progress against childhood diseases by seeing to it that well over 95% of all children entering school are immunized.

Before vaccines were discovered, childhood diseases took a terrible toll—the mentally retarded child who was so bright before suffering brain damage from measles, the baby born blind and deaf because his mother had rubella while she was pregnant, children and adults crippled by polio.

Although many of these childhood diseases have been effectively controlled by early vaccinations, there is still the threat of outbreaks unless parents and state officials continue to be vigilant about vaccinating children.

If you would like information on the types of vaccinations to give your children and on what time schedules, write the Public Information Office, Massachusetts Department of Public Health, 600 Washington Street, Room #212, Boston, Mass. 02111.

Walking With Jesus Christ

Suddenly the thought penetrated—it came through like a thunderous awakening!—"we may talk with God anytime"—He is always there—we're always in his presence. His Holy Spirit abides within us—his children, the forgiven sinners. The immensity of the thought is overwhelming and it is with a sense of awe that we look upon one another and know we will forever be together in heaven.

Our mortal bodies will return to the dust—but the immortal spirit will arise—in the twinkling of an eye—as the last breath of life leaves us—to be in the eternal God's presence.

The veil of the temple—described in the Book of Exodus—has been removed—by the death of Jesus Christ on the Cross. Luke 23:45—"And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst." The Bible tells us that now the Holy Spirit—"makes intercession for us"—to God—Romans 8:26, 27. He searches our hearts—"for we know not what we should pray for as we ought." This means that God knows what's best for us—and will give us what he wants us to have—not always what we want. What a glorious reality—God so loves us—he even straightens out our wish list—corrects the colors—sizzles and eliminates some of the winks and adding others.

WOOD HEAT MEETING TOPIC LAST THURSDAY EVENING

Wood heat was the topic of a workshop, jointly sponsored by the S.A.D. 44 Adult and Community Education program, the Bethel Fire Department, and the Oxford County Cooperative Extension Service, held at the Bethel Fire Station on Thursday, Oct. 28. Stove manufacturer Rocky Swain of Bethel began the workshop with an overview of types of stoves and the principles of burning efficiently. He was followed by David Brown, local chimney sweep and member of the Bethel Fire Department, who discussed chimney safety, types of linings and safe practices. Assistant Chief Burnie Rice of the Bethel Fire Department, described the Department's ability to respond to fires, and highlighted the increased number of fires in the area. The Department was called out approximately 45 times in 1981, with the total for 1982 already at 62. He estimated that 80% of the calls were for wood-related fires, with 60% of those specifically chimney fires. The Bethel Fire Department will inspect any wood stove installation and offer safety recommendations to homeowners or renters. The Department has smoke detectors and fire extinguishers for sale at cost.

Following the coffee break, Rusty Clark, agent for the Extension Service, presented a slide show on wood stove safety, and all presenters answered questions from the audience. The questions related nearly exclusively to creosote problems. The Extension Service has several free handouts to distribute. These are available at the Extension office in South Paris for those interested.

TESTING PHYSICAL EFFECTS OF SMOKING NOV. 4 &amp; 5 AT STEPHENS HOSPITAL

Special equipment, on loan from the Maine Lung Association, which instantly records the physical effects of smoking on the body, is again available to the public this year in the Stephens Memorial Hospital Lobby, Norway, Nov. 4, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. - 8 p.m., and Friday, Nov. 5, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Region 11 Allied Health students will be operating the equipment, interpreting results and offering free information and booklets on how to stop smoking for those interested.

The goal of the use of Biofeedback Equipment for smokers is to allow participants to gather their own data and draw their own conclusions as to the effects, on their body, of smoking just one cigarette.

The equipment used to achieve this goal is:

(1) An Ecolyzer or Breath Capacitator, which measures the amount of carbon monoxide in the exhaled breath before and after smoking.

(2) The Cardiometer is used to measure the changes in heart rates before and after smoking, by use of a finger clamp, which monitors impulses from a major artery on the finger.

(3) The Digital Thermometer is used to measure changes in skin temperature before and after smoking, by a probe held between the thumb and index finger.

(4) The Tremor Tester measures the change in hand steadiness before and after smoking. The subject holds a probe in the proper hole 30 seconds without arm support — every time the probe touches the side of the hole, it is registered and recorded.

Most smokers are very much aware of the long term effects of smoking on their health, but few realize the immediate effects. These tests are fool proof evidence of this effect and serve as a real eye opener to the smoker.

Perhaps you are debating whether to kick the habit once and for all on Nov. 18, the American Cancer Society Great American Smokeout Day. A stop by Stephens Memorial Hospital on Nov. 4 or 5 might make your decision easier.

Those who decide to stop smoking can find help through the Stop Smoking Clinic to be offered at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Nov. 18 - Nov. 22. Further information on the Biofeedback, Great American Smokeout or The Stop Smoking Clinic, can be obtained by calling the Health Education Department at Stephens Memorial Hospital 743-5933, Ext. 489.

MOTORISTS SHOULD PROTECT VEHICLES AGAINST WINTER

With falling temperatures, frost on the ground, and earlier darkness, the state police advise motorists now is the time to begin protecting their vehicles against possible misfortune during the colder months.

"It's just plain smart to plan ahead by winterizing a vehicle now rather than be caught with the battery down, radiator not protected by antifreeze, and without snow tires and chains," said Colonel Alan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State Police.

In addition, the defroster, heater and tire chains suddenly become important as the intelligent driver anticipates winter's challenges.

According to Col. Weeks, "Knowing that blustery days are coming, and that last minute rush for winterizing always jams garages and service stations, the thinking persons acts in advance and gets his/her vehicle attended to during the lull before the storms."

The state police chief said that a change in driving habits is in order too, as motorists face many weeks of cold rain, moisture-laden snow, sleet and ice.

Gradual starts and stops, longer intervals between vehicles, signals well in advance of turning, cautious passing, and alertness for pedestrians who may slip or fall are the marks that distinguish the "truly good driver" from one who became an accident victim as a result of not making these adjustments before the first snow falls, he said.

"A vehicle in good shape, driven by a safety-minded driver, will collect dividends in peace of mind for oneself, comfort for passengers, and be the finest possible insurance against colliding with fellow road users," said Weeks.

More than 22% of the 2,000 freshmen who enrolled at the University of Maine at Orono this fall placed in the top 10th of their high school classes. Additionally, 38 of the new freshmen served as valedictorians of their high school graduating class and 33 were salutatorians. Six of the newest UMO tatorians.

Participation in the 1983 programs is voluntary. However, only those farmers who take part will be eligible for program benefits. Signup will be conducted through March 31.

WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC. TO EXAMINE RAILROADS

The next meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society will be Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. at the Elementary School. John Davis will speak on railroads. Since the Society has a considerable amount of railroad memorabilia, the program should be most appropriate.

Also, this month has seen a large number of donations to the Society. The largest is a large old teacher's desk formerly used in the district, donated by S.A.D. 44. It will be used by the Curator and to store artifacts in. The museum is literally filled to overflowing, but room can always be found for one more thing it seems. Visitors seem to appreciate seeing a wealth of items when they examine the exhibits.

Bryant Pond, Me. 04219

To the Editor:

My 4 yr. old son and I just returned from the Halloween party held at Bryant Pond's Woodstock Elementary School, and I felt I owed it to the hardworking people who put it on to write a note of heartfelt thanks. With the uncertainty of making the traditional trick-or-treat rounds as we used to, it was so nice to have an alternative offered locally.

A fun-filled evening for parents and children alike, there was something to please everyone — a jack-o-lantern contest, costume parade, haunted house, movie (complete with popcorn and cider), and bags of treats. The amount of planning and work put into such a well-run event must've been phenomenal, and the relatively small handful of people who gave so freely of their time deserve far more thanks than I'm sure they'll receive. It's so easy for people to rationalize that they're too busy with their own family, job, or other activities — so easy to leave the work to someone they think has the free time to be active in the community. If the truth be known, however, this handful of community-minded people are just as busy, if not busier, than the people who habitually reap the benefits of someone's else's hard work.

We'd probably all (myself included) do well to remember and act upon a saying I came across several years ago that goes something like this, "I always figured that someone else could do a better job, 'til I realized that I was someone else." Maybe if we all put a little more personal effort into the behind-the-scenes work going on in our home-towns, will

DEER SEASON PROSPECTS

Maine's deer herd suffered losses during the tough winter of 1982 — but given good hunting weather, Maine hunters could end the season with a kill similar to last year's without adversely affecting the herd.

That is the assessment of Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Glenn H. Manuel, based on information compiled by his Wildlife Division.

The deer season opens statewide for all hunters on Monday, Nov. 8.

"In much of central Maine, deer populations should be adequate for anticipated hunting pressure, but slightly reduced from 1981 levels.

Following last winter's moderately severe weather conditions, increased numbers of direct losses of deer were noted for all age classes — but particularly among fawns of the year, according to Manuel. In addition to the worst winter of the last four years, a delayed spring green-up of forage plants during April and May kept pregnant does on lower quality feed during a greater proportion of their gestation period. This resulted in stunted deer fetuses and an estimated loss of 18 to 20% of the fawn crop. Manuel points out that the hardest-hit area is the extreme southwestern part of the state where development and hunting pressure are the greatest. If tracking snow comes early this fall, Manuel warns, the deer herd in that area is vulnerable to over-exploitation. A heavy deer kill there would cut deeply into the adult female segment of the population.

"The Maine legislature last year approved an antlerless-deer law which can be used in the future to rebuild the herd in places where the habitat can support more deer. But the law won't come into effect until next year.

"Although not legally required, I want to encourage sportsmen in southern Maine voluntarily to avoid shooting doe deer this year. Also, in order to protect the deer population in York and Cumberland counties where we do have a problem of high hunting pressure, I would suggest to hunters in those counties to consider doing some of their hunting in other parts of the state this fall to help ease the situation," Manuel said.

Deer in the northern zone, particularly in northern Piscataquis County, could withstand a heavier harvest and could absorb higher levels of hunting pressure, according to Wildlife Division studies.

North Paris

— Eveline B. Vatcher, Corres. —
Our first Monday on slow time and it is raining. I don't like slow time, as it makes the days too long and it gets dark before supper. I didn't get my extra hour of sleep, but I'll make it up next Spring, I hope.

We had our last supper Oct. 30 and 22 sat down to eat all together and it seemed good. Each one served their pie when they were ready for it. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bailey were able to be with us, also Joe and Norma Reidy, who were at their trailer for the week end. We visited and talked to all.

Callers at Lawrences: Ellen Coffin, Barbara Knightly, Margaret Stevens, Florrie Williams, "Buzzy" Cummings, Arlene Abbott, Alice Goff, Arlene Ellis, Arnold Coffin and Eveline Vatcher had dinner with Doris and Root on Sunday.

Harlan Abbott and Joe Vatcher left for Moosehead Lake Friday noon, Oct. 30, for the opening day of hunting and will return home on Tuesday, Nov. 2. Dick Bean and Son, Dick, Jr., went at 4 p. m., Friday, but they returned Sunday evening.

Joe and Eveline Vatcher had an accident in front of Hancock Lumber Co. on Tuesday, Oct. 26. They went to South Paris to get hearing aid batteries and a large truck that hauled mobile homes from Twin Town Trailer Co. slammed into our rear bumper, so we need a new one and a tail light. If it had been the car, we probably would have had to thumb a ride home, if we were able. We were stopped dead still to let another truck come into the line of traffic, so it was none of our doings. We couldn't imagine what had hit us, but we found out real soon, and so many cars coming and going, it was a busy place.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Stanley Roberts in their recent loss. I had hoped he would soon be home after he was taken from the Intensive Care Unit.

Wilbur "Skip" Chamberlain is at the Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. We wish him well. There were no Trick or Treaters Sunday evening and I am glad for there isn't any street light near our house. The way things have been going it's better to forget about treats unless they are made and supervised by Mom. There is more than one sick person roaming at large.

We have been hearing reports about a Secret Dump being readied for use when the West Paris dump has to close. Why bring all the dirt to North Paris? The spot will be a nice place to get to when it storms. Maybe the Town will furnish a tractor FREE to pull the cars and trucks up the slippery hill. The North Paris residents would do well to look into the matter.

The Senior Citizens enjoyed their annual Thanksgiving feast at the West Paris Legion Hall on Nov. 2. Several from our little Hamlet attended. It was catered by the Ledgeview Memorial Nursing Home, and everything was delicious.

FROM THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER

The Bethel Area Health Center will always need the cooperation and participation of the community to provide the best possible health service to the community. We are fortunate indeed to live in a community which responds very positively and quickly when help is needed.

The time has come to find more volunteer drivers. We have a few on call but as it is strictly volunteer we feel that additional names will help a great deal. Those drivers that we have are truly excellent and most helpful. We want to keep them happy and not too overworked. It is a great pleasure to work with them.

We try and give adequate notice when a driver is needed. However, there are times when a driver is needed immediately. Generally speaking notice will be given and mileage reimbursement available through the Bethel Area Health Center. Those interested please call the Health Center 824-2193 and ask for Muriel Whitney.

In squad training will be held on Sunday, Nov. 7. There will be two sessions, one at 2 o'clock and one at 6 o'clock. This is C.P.R. refresher. Everyone should attend one or the other so to renew their C.P.R. card.

Many of the B.E.A.R.S. enjoyed the Mass Casualty Course held at Telstar on Sunday, Oct. 31. Many thanks to Bill Severance, instructor from Stoneham Rescue, for a job well done. Several attended from other Rescue units.

The next schedule will be made out by Florence Merrill, so if you are unable to take your regular duty or can take an extra duty please call her at 824-2521.

Florence Merrill and Esther Sweetser gave a demonstration on First Aid for small children at the Children's Center at West Bethel for the parents on Monday, Nov. 1.

Safety Tip of the Week

—Fall and Winter Driving
In the morning when your car is white with frost, take a few minutes longer to clear the windows good. If you have poor visibility you can't expect to see anything that may cross your path while driving down the road. Remember bridges freeze before the road surface. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

What wonderful weather we have been having for October. We should all take advantage of it. Who knows when it will change.

Joe has taken advantage of the weather, and put on double wind-downs, used calking compound where needed and what ever else was needed to close cracks against the winter weather when it comes.

We also had last year's broccoli from the garden. It's hard to believe it would stand so much cold weather, but glad it did.

It is amazing how much more one can see now that the leaves are about all gone, leaving the trees bare. I guess we all know what Mother Nature is telling us will happen before we are ready for it.

I have enjoyed watching the birds that come into the yard to feed, also a chipmunk or two. It is fascinating to watch them as they sit and eat whatever they hold in their paws.

I have tried to take advantage of the good weather too. Have gotten out door more, and watched what was going on around me. Even had the neighbor's cat come to visit me, in our yard. He is a really friendly cat but makes sure to keep away from the dog. He followed me around the yard and even down into the field, purring all the time, just glad to have someone talk to him and give him a petting. He was good company.

Took a trip to Norway on Friday and did a little shopping. Stores are already getting ready for Christmas. Seems early, but it will be here before we know it.

Barbara Yates stopped in for a short visit one afternoon. Darnita had stopped in for a few minutes that morning with the daughter, Eva. Always enjoy company.

ACTIVITIES AT THE
BETHEL AIRPORT

Just after 11 o'clock Sunday morning, Louis Paul of West Bethel, landed the sailplane he was flying, and started a full day of soaring at the Bethel Airport. Mr. Paul, with his son, Louis Craig, a certified flight instructor, flew the sailplane from Twitchell's Airport near Lewiston, with Evan Turner of Mt. Vernon piloting the Super Cub tow plane.

Once the aircraft arrived in Bethel they did not stay on the ground for long, as a steady stream of local residents came out to fly. Dave Robinson, also a certified flight instructor, and visiting from Alta, Utah, flew scenic rides and gave a number of introductory lessons, while L. C. and Evan traded off tow duty. During the afternoon a number of powered aircraft landed at Bethel, while the airplanes based at Bethel were also active. It was a busy day indeed. By sunset 11 sailplane flights had been made and all the pilots were very pleased by the extremely large turnout of spectators and passengers.

The strong soaring conditions so often present this time of year were absent on Sunday so no altitude record flights were attempted. But all and all it was a fine day to view the Bethel area from the air.

More activity planned for this week at the field includes soaring, both rides and instruction, record altitude attempts (weather conditions permitting) parachute jumping and aerobatic flying demonstrations.

Craig and Dave will be at the airport through the week end for sailplane and airplane rides or they can be reached at 836-2554, for more information.

FROM THE TOWN OFFICE

trench. When a citizen deposits his or her trash and garbage at the Landfill gate during off-operating hours (envelopes and address labels found in the trash suggest who the offenders are), violation of littering statutes occurs (Title 17 MRSA 2264) that is an affront to all fellow community members. Perhaps realizing the negative effect of these actions and reminding of the Golden Rule, Landfill users will arrange their schedules to take advantage of the safe operating hours. Should circumstances require special use of the Landfill, arrangements can be made by calling the Town Office or Town Garage.
